Re: MUR 5667

Dear Mr. Jordan,

In response to the above referenced MUR I submit the following statement:

During the presidential campaign of 2000 I was informed by a member of my staff that there were internet domain names that suggested an affiliation to the Buchanan campaign but were actually controlled by individuals or entities outside the campaign. An effort was made either by the campaign, or the campaign was approached by the owners of these names, to determine what interest we might have in acquiring them.

Mark Redina was an owner of such names. He requested a substantial payment from the campaign to acquire the domain names in his possession. When I was presented with this information I rejected the offer.

At some later date Mark Clausen, an attorney offered to volunteer his services and follow up on this issue. I explained to him that I was not interested in spending any campaign funds to pursue these domain names. I had no particular interest in them.

Mr. Clausen explained that all his time would be volunteered. I agreed to that arrangement.

I have never approved any expenses related to this matter, nor have I been notified that any expenses were to be incurred, nor, for that matter, that any were incurred.

I hope this information is of value to you.

Sincerely,

Angela "Bay" Buchanan
